

Today's Cowman Prefers Brangus Because...

• Commercial cattlemen across the country realize feeders want black cattle with performance and a touch of ear and consider Brangus the easiest way to get there.

• For America's ranchers, Brangus bulls go out and get cows bred, adding profitable pounds of weaning weight to the calves and producing replacement helpers that are superior to their mothers in every way.

Reagan Sets Payment in Kind Program to Cut Crop Excess

President Pledges Strong Effort to Free Farm Exports From Unfair Subsidies of Foreign Countries, Boost Farm Prices

Bob Delano I thank you very much, for this opportunity and you ladies and gentlemen I thank you for that down on the farm welcome. I'm like I once heard a fellow say, I'm happy as a hog in a tater patch. And let me tell you, I happened to read Bob Delano's Christmas message in the Farm Bureau News. I'd like to read part of it for you. Bob gave thanks for all that is good and well on every farm, for families and health, for understanding, for understanding neighbors, for puppies, kittens, calves, for good rains, fertile soil and good crops. For freedom to manage, and speak for ones self and the great voice of agriculture that is the Farm Bureau. Well I say amen to these things, because they embody the spirit of Farm Bureau and I'm delighted to share in that spirit today. Now if there's one thing you must possess to be a farmer, its patience. I know how difficult the last several years have been for farmers, so difficult they in fact could change the lyrics to that old song to read "How To Keep Them Down on the Farm After They've Seen the Grain Crisis."

Other countries filled in the gap and then locked in now long-term trade agreements with the Soviets. We not only lost sales, we lost our reputation as reliable supplier. It takes years, not months to regain that reputation. As you know, we lifted the embargo and we've been working hard to repair the damage to our farm exports. We want the world to know that it can count on America and its farmers for two things: Generous food aid for those who are hungry, and the reliability of our farm supplies.

To rebuild our reputation as a reliable supplier last March 22nd, I pledged an end to export interruption except in extreme foreign policy circumstances. I've kept that pledge. As the governor of another great agricultural state, Charles Thomas of Nebraska said to me last summer, "there must be no question about our respect for contracts, we must restore confidence in the United States reliability as a supplier." An agreement would also protect Americans from possible Soviet disruption of our domestic market.

We have now taken another important step toward restoring that confidence, and I wanted you to be the first to know about it. Today I signed into law House Resolution 5447 — The Commodity Futures Trading Commission Reauthorization Legislation, and as you know, it gives contracts sanctity protection. It's a farce of law. Our foreign customers now have the delivery assurance that you have asked for, and we stand ready as a nation to sell them the grain we have and they need.

As we have in the past, we'll continue to differentiate between readily available agricultural products and industrial goods and technology. Other challenges remain to be met. As the world's economic expansion sank into recession further weakening the demand for our farm products, and to add that, a stronger dollar increased the prices of our farm products overseas.

And the unfair trade practices that some foreign competitors used continued hitting the farmer below the belt. To top it off, we've had record growing seasons lately. Even the great industries of America are pale in comparison to the efficiency and productivity of American Farmers. What the microchip has done for technology, the American farmer has done for agriculture. About 15 months ago we had 186 million bushels of corn in farmer held reserves, now we have 11 times that much, 2 billion bushels, an incredible increase in just such a short time, two years. We've also had record

With all of this screachin' & hollerin' about ban th' Bomb and fears that we may all wind up incinerated as th' Soviets & th' United States start hurlin' nuclear missiles at one another, we have about concluded th' big bust that threatens what we smilinly refer to as Our Civilization, may be a lot closer than we suspect and that it will be it fist might be a matter of th' whole world drowning in Red Ink.

There has been a lot of talk about how on Go-Go Banks have loaned untold billions to countries all over th' world, includin' Communist, Undeveloped and th' so-called developed and industrial countries and none of 'em appear willing or able in most cases to even pay th' interest, much less any of the principal. Fed Cattle Sold Higher Monday as Carcass Beef Continued Firm to Stronger, Hogs Lower at Most Marts

Prices of fed steers and heifers were mostly firm to unevenly higher Monday as supplies were about level with last week and the carcass beef trade opened steady to $1 higher. Reports again indicated that considerable mud was on some cattle and lowered expected yields and this factor along with numbers of yield grade 4's and 5's accounted for the lower end of prices on the choice and prime cattle listed below. Slaughter cows were generally steady at best and lower at several markets. Slaughter bulls were largely unchanged. Monday's estimated cattle kill at 125,000 was 1,000 above a week ago and 20,000 larger than last year. The day's market supplies at 20,500 were 400 above a week ago.

Hog prices moved lower at most markets. Market supplies were 6,900 below a week earlier, however, Monday's estimated hog kill at 304,000 was 44,000 ahead of last week and a surprising 81,000 above a year earlier. Average declines across the board ranged from steady at best to .25 cents or .50 cents lower on average, except Sioux Falls was .25 to .75 cents higher.

Price trends, quotes on choice and prime steers and heifers and the mixed good and choice grades and good and choice Holstein steers and the U.S. 1-3 hogs scaling mostly 200 to 280 pounds included:

OMAHA fed cattle .50 cents to $1 higher. Steers $58 to $61.25 and $57.50 to $59. Heifers $49 to $51.50. Heifers $56.50 to $59.50 and $56.50 to $58. Hogs steady to .25 cents lower at $58 to $58.75. SIOUX CITY fed cattle .50 cents to $1 higher. Steers $59 to $60.50 and $58 to $59.50. Heifers $57.50 to $59 and $58 to $57.50. Hogs steady at $53.75 to $56.75.

ST. PAUL steers and heifers firm to .50 cents higher. Holstein .50 cents to $1 up. Steers $55.50 to $59.20 and $56.50 to $57.50. Heifers $50.50 to $53. Heifers $55 to $57.50 and $54.50 to $56. Hogs steady to .50 cents lower at

Carlot Beef Opens Mud Makes Trading Hard

Des Moines, Jan. 10 (F-S) — Central U.S. carlot beef report (includes the major production areas in the Midwest and Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle) as of 4:00 p.m. Compared to Friday's 4:00 p.m. report: Steer and heifer carcasses $1.00 higher. Demand and trading moderate, however, late trading turned up with packers bullish on limited offerings. The gross boxed beef carcass cutout value advanced $1.00 to an estimated $97.80 per cwt. Sales reported on 83 loads of steer and heifer carcasses.

Today's Cowman Prefers Brangus Because...

- Commercial cattlemen across the country realize feeders want black cattle with performance and a touch of ear and consider Brangus the easiest way to get there.

For America's ranchers, Brangus bulls go out and get cows bred; adding profitable pounds of weaning weight to the calves and producing replacement heifers that are superior to their mothers in every way.

300 PERFORMANCE TESTED BULLS.

THE SUGAR LOAF PROGRAM

The Sugar Loaf Program is one of the pioneers in the industry.

The Sugar Loaf name dates back four decades. The dispersion of this herd represents the merging by Sugar Loaf of the Colossal Cattle Company and the Shalco herds. The dams and sisters of many of the Denver Grand Champion Carligans will sell.

Quality has been a tradition at Sugar Loaf with a strong "Colossal" base, fortified by his great son, "Trailblazer", and then the best females by Southholm Bar Lad 500, Diamond Legs Ranger and Ben's Big Boy. All of this great blood has been combined with the featured herd sires now in use at Sugar Loaf.

Future of the Small Purebred Breeder

By Jim D. Brown, President
Texas Brahman Assn.

Anytime an individual enters the purebred cattle business, regardless of the breed, the future of the operation depends totally upon that individual, not on the breed of cattle. There is certainly a market for all breeds.

Too many times a particular breed may be going strong at a given time and a new person is encouraged to enter the business since it looks like a gravy train. This may well be true in some cases, but these cases are extremely rare.

As a purebred breeder, any new or small established breeder must have goals for his operation. Incorporated in these goals, whatever they may be, are limiting factors which include, acreage

Seaberg Ranch Announces Phase IV Sale for Spring

Brahman Ranch, Wharton, TX, has announced their Phase IV offering of registered Brahman cattle. In making this announcement, John Joyce, partner and general manager of Seaberg Ranch, states that the sale site for this event will be at Angelo's Fisherman's Wharf on South Main Street in Houston, TX. The sale is scheduled for 6:00 p.m. on Tuesday, February 22.

Phase IV will consist of 25 bred heifers and 10 herd sire prospects, all halter破。Most of the cattle in the sale are the result of the Seaberg embryo program.

Approximately 20 of the heifers offered will carry the services of, or are sired by, Mr. Seaberg 217, the highest priced Brahman bull sold at public auction to date ($540,000). Several heifers in the sale are either sired by or carry the service of Register of Renown bull JMD Elephants Manse 226-3 or IW's Rexcrat 206.

"In this sale, some of the best genetics available in the Brahman breed will be offered. All of the animals have met and passed the most demanding standards ever set for a purebred Brahman seedstock sale. The 10 herd bull prospects are the best act of bulls we've ever produced," notes Joyce.

A special attraction of the sale will be the pick of one of the top three embryo heifer calves born on Seaberg Ranch during the fall of 1982. These three full sisters are sired by Mr. Seaberg 217 and their is the leading embryo cow for the ranch, Miss Pare 188-1.

The sale will be held prior to the Brahman activities at the Second International Brahman Show and the

TBA Produces Audio-Video Tape

The Texas Brahman Association has completed work on an audio-video tape presentation which includes film work on local ranches showing the Brahman breed at work and discusses the impact of Brahman cattle on the cattle breed today. Mr. Henry Kounts, immediate past president of TBA was chairman of this tape presentation, and has compiled an excellent presentation. The TBA will have this tape on display at most of the major livestock shows and Brahman events in 1983.

Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. Auctioneer for the sale will be Joe McLean of Hubbard, TX.

1983 National Brahman Show, Sale Date Set

Jackson, MS — The 1983 National Brahman Show and Sale has been set for February 14. The events will take place at the Dixie National Livestock Show here in Jackson. The 1983 national events are being sponsored and hosted by the Mississippi Brahman Association (MBA).

Well Potter of Guatemala City,

Guatemala will serve as the judge for the Brahman show. Judging will begin with the Brahman females at 8:00 a.m. on February 14. The Brahman bull judging will follow on February 15. The bull classes will also begin at 8:00 a.m.

Other activities planned for the 1983 national include a dinner theatre banquet on Monday, February 13. The ladies will be treated to a tour of the Governor's Mansion and a tea on Monday afternoon following the Brahman judging.

The 1983 National Sale will begin in the sales arena after the conclusion of the Brahman bull judging. This year's sale features four herd bulls and nine-teen bred females, both red and gray. Breeders from six states have consigned some of their top animals to the sale.

Sale headquarters will be at the Coliseum Ranch Inn. Sale chairman for the 1983 National Brahman Sale is Clyde Goidos of Okya, MS. For more information on the sale, he may be contacted at Rt. 2 Box 197, Okya, MS, 39067, or call (601) 542-5080. John Rayborn, MBA President, may also be contacted at (601) 284-4270.

TBA Plans for Convention/Sale

The Texas Brahman Association is currently making plans for their annual convention and annual haltered heifer sale for 1983.

The convention will be held in conjunction with the Texas Jr. Brahman Association State Show and the All American Jr. Brahman National Show in Brenham, Texas the third week of July. The tentative dates for the convention and sale are being studied at the present with dates of July 18-20 being considered heavily.

The Second Annual TBA Haltered Heifer Sale will have Twenty Lots of the best of the breed in the sale as consignments are now being taken from the TBA membership. Any TBA member wishing to consign to this sale should contact Jim D. Brown and consign their animals as soon as possible. The ages of the consignments must be at least one year of age and not older than four years of age. All animals must be haltered and a $100.00 nomination fee submitted with the nomination. The deadline for nominations is Jan. 31, 1983.

Two Factors Can Make Or Break A Small Purebred Breeder

After a new breeder establishes his goals and enters into the business, the future of his operation will hinge solely on his ability to successfully accomplish two items. First, the quality factor must be stressed in the brood cows and the herd sire. The breeder must be keenly aware of his association's breed excellence requirements and strive to achieve this excellence. Too often a new breeder will purchase high quality females and then, for some reason, the other, will purchase a bull of lesser quality that will not increase quality in his offspring. If this occurs, the future of the operation is immediately in jeopardy.

The only way to achieve quality is to study breed excellence requirements and know what he desires to breed into his herd. Breed associations will certainly furnish ample material for the new breeder to study. Next, the breeder should begin to compare cattle that are for sale in terms of their excellence and then purchase the best cattle he can find for the money he has available. Visiting breed clinics, field days, and other ranches, as well as inspecting cattle at livestock shows are good ways to study the breed before starting a herd.

Second, the other factor that can make or break a small purebred breeder is the ghost in the closet called "Marketing." After the quality is considered, the marketing aspects erupts into the picture. You can brood the best cattle in the world, but if you can't sell them, it doesn't make bit of difference. You cannot sit back and wait for your phone to ring and the buyers to beat your door down trying to buy your quality cattle. If you do, your future is again in jeopardy. Any company, ranch, or other business that is a big success is one that markets its product. How many times have I received letters and calls from small breeders asking, "Where can I sell my bulls and heifers?"

This question leads me to state the future of the breeder lies in the ability of him to market his cattle, more so than any other aspect of his operation. With this in mind, I would like to focus attention to a small breeder's marketing program very briefly.

Let me stress, however, that if the small purebred breeder cannot survive, then neither will the large breeder. The small purebred breeder is one of the chief purchasers of cattle from the large established purebred breeder.

To market cattle, the small purebred breeder must first look at collective marketing of his cattle. He should be a member of a local organization for his breed and collectively promote and sell their cattle. Keep in mind that more cattle are sold by working together. If there is not a local breed association in your area, form one. This new association should cover a radius of approximately 150 miles around a center point.

West Kansas Feedlots

Dodge City, Jan. 7 (USDA) - Slaughter steers and heifers closed mostly 1.00 lower. Heifers continued under poor demand. Warm, sunny weather melted snow and cattle began to "pick-up" much this week. A few choice cattle will be "carried over," but most feedlots and cattle owners were willing to take the price downturn in an effort to stay current in marketing.

Steers, 29,100: Throughout the period, choice 2-4, mostly 3, 1000-1225 lbs, 60.50-61.75; mostly 61.00-61.50; choice with end good 1050-1225 lbs, 60.00-61.50, mostly 60.50-61.00; mixed good and choice 58.50-60.00; 1175-1400 lb Heifers 61.00-52.50. Heifers 13,000:

Throughout the period, choice 2-4, mostly 3, 900-1075 lbs, mostly 950-1025 lbs, 68.00-69.75, bulk 69.00-69.50; choice with end good 57.50-59.00, mostly 58.50-59.00; mixed commercial to choice heifers and heiferettes 97.5-1100 lbs, 64.50-67.50.

A market is there in each area and it is up to the local group to find, develop and cultivate this market.

Your state and National Associations are there for you. Be a partner with them with your membership. These associations are there to help you. Keep in touch with these groups by attending their meetings, functions and sales. Many leads for sales are picked up by the people at these meetings and gatherings. Remember that an informed and knowledgeable breeder can discuss his product much more intelligently. Every meeting I attend I either hear of a potential customer or meet one. In most cases I don't hear of these prospective sellers if I miss the breed's functions.

Any person visiting your operation should be loaded with literature about your breed of cattle before he leaves your place. A hand shake is nice as well as good conversation, but make sure your visitor leaves with either a purchase and/or a lot of material to think about when he gets home.

Take pictures of your best animals for all printed materials so these brochures with these quality pictures can be put on the bulletin boards of the local auction barns in the area.

A point that cannot be stressed enough is that your bulls must be sold for what they are worth. This means calling the low quality bulls out. All purebred breeders have "knives" and all good successful purebred breeders use this "knife" in their operation. The end result is a quality group of bulls for sale that will bring a top price. Don't let a cul group go out in the community with your brand on him. One bull sold for a lower price will cost you many sales later. When your brand is seen on a bull, make it stand for something excellent.

I have mentioned just a few ways to help the small purebred breeder market his cattle. There are many other successful marketing approaches but if the small purebred breeder is to exist in this highly competitive world, he must stress quality first, and then demonstrate a quality marketing program. I truly believe no breeder will be without a market with quality animals and a quality marketing approach.

A market is there in each area and it is up to the local group to find, develop and cultivate this market.

Business cards are very helpful and in many cases will result in a sale three or four years later. They are inexpensive and are of great value.

Each breeder should have a one page brochure with pictures of the operation, cattle and herd sire, as well as directions to the Ranch. When someone writes to you, ask you write to them, enclose a copy of your brochure. These should be reprinted about every three years and are of nominal cost.

Contact your county agents and tell them where you are and what you have. Many prospective customers ask them for particular breeds and if they are being sold in the area. Also, the Vocational Agriculture teachers in the local schools, take them a brochure and tell them where you are. This could lead to club calf sales as well as other sales.

When you are there, invite the teachers and their students to visit your purebred cattle operation when they take field trips.

A point that cannot be stressed enough is that your bulls must be sold for what they are worth. This means calling the low quality bulls out. All purebred breeders have "knives" and all good successful purebred breeders use this "knife" in their operation. The end result is a quality group of bulls for sale that will bring a top price. Don't let a cul group go out in the community with your brand on him. One bull sold for a lower price will cost you many sales later. When your brand is seen on a bull, make it stand for something excellent.

I have mentioned just a few ways to help the small purebred breeder market his cattle. There are many other successful marketing approaches but if the small purebred breeder is to exist in this highly competitive world, he must stress quality first, and then demonstrate a quality marketing program. I truly believe no breeder will be without a market with quality animals and a quality marketing approach.

most part and no one seems to have th' longest notion as to how it is gonna work out. Th' remedy th' politicians have come up with is th' same old one, just keep throwin' more money at th' problem.

We got some friendly kiddin' a couple of week's ago when we suggested that Uncle Sam was probably th' worst off as far as debt was concerned and that more than $1 Trillion over-draft we took so much about was probably more like $20 Trillion. However, take a look. Th' civilian and military pension funds are at this writing a trillion short of funded by this U.S. Govt. Add a few items like Govt. guaranteed FHA, FmHA, export garantees, business loans through various agencies like SBA, etc., not to mention bailouts like Lockheed and Chrysler, and various other public services in this country and around th' World and an outfit you probably never heard of called th' Federal Financing Bank which was set up in 1974 and which borrows money at below market rates from th' Treasury and lends it out at below market rates to business, rural electric co-ops and furrin nations. This enables th' politicians to conceal th' true size of the public debt. This and other off budget capers like deficiency appropriations and other tricks of th' money trade keep us all in th' dark which probly saves our elected servants from untold retribution at th' hands of th' voters.

Look at th' debt easy money has enabled businesses of all kinds, from th' largest corporations to individual businesses and individuals their own selfs to pile up and it gets really scary. Th' rash of bankruptcies is causin' some folks to complain quite a bit and th' sole reason for this is debt. Consider th' numbers of individuals who have sought shelter in bankruptcy, all on account of more debt than they can fade, and in most cases this was easy money and easy credit from usin' plastic money in th' form of credit cards, etc.

Ye sirs, it looks like we may all drown in a flood of IOUs and printing press money, long before we are faced with an atomic face-off with Russia. What is really frightening is th' fact that those billions of debt we are worryin' so much about in Mexico, Brazil, Poland and Argentina, to mention a few, are really very small potatoes compared to what our own United States is obligated for.

Ever think,
The Editor.
P.S.: Uncle Dunk figgers th' new war being waged agin' Drunk Drivers may very well run into th' same problem, if it already has not, that past efforts to legislate morals have encountered. It gets purty tough to make folks do right by using legislative force, and to date it aint ever worked as well as planned. —Thassall, Brothers!

AMERICAN RED BRANGUS ASSOCIATION NEWS

their offspring will be great. Buyers know the future for the Red Brangus breed is great, so they can buy with confidence.

Ruben Reyes of San Antonio was the auctioneer for the event.

Extra Sets Red Brangus World Record

The sale of one-tenth semen interest in Red Brangus herd sire Extra 647, for the Breeding Improvement through Embryo Transfer will go forward more rapidly and with less risk by a group of breeders in a cooperative program," said Flato. "If each cow is bred to three bulls, we can evaluate over 100 genetic combinations in four years."

"By pooling and sharing our genetics," said Sosnowy, "we expect the Red Brangus breed to be the big winner."

Flato's purchase of the EXTRA interest caps his extensive search over the past several years for the highest performing genetics in the Red Brangus breed. In addition to building his own impressive donor cow herd Flato has also joined Guerras and Oakway Farms of Cameron, Texas.

This sale places a Red Brangus World Record Value of $400,000 on this five-year-old sire, bred and raised by Oakway Farms.

Weston Promoted By Federal Land Bank

Austin — John Weston has been promoted to associate vice-president-association operations for the Federal Land Bank of Texas. The appointment was effective January 1, 1983, according to Thomas H. Benson, president.

In June 1977 he was employed as assistant manager at the Federal Land Bank of Texas. The appointment was effective January 1, 1983, according to Thomas H. Benson, president.

With the Land Bank's relocation to Austin from Houston, Weston assumed new responsibilities as assistant vice-president-association operations.

The present Texas brucellosis program will remain in effect until Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission act upon proposals before them. However, Texas livestock producers need to be aware now of the new federal changes," Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, said.

Under the federal regulations, Texas will continue its two-class classification, and as of Jan. 12, 1983 the present Class A area and Class B area will be known as Class B area and Class C area.

A reduction in farm building and other improvements due to continued adverse economic conditions, and reduced income to farmers also contributed to the decline in loan number and volume.

The most significant change for movement of cattle for Texas livestock producers will be those non-vaccinated test eligible females of breeding age in the Class C area which are to be shipped out of that area.

Under the new federal regulations, a non-vaccinated test eligible female will require two negative tests at least 60 days apart, with the second test within 30 days prior to movement and repeat at destination.

The Kansas Beef Expo Board met in Wichita recently to discuss plans for the upcoming event. The fifth annual Kansas Beef Expo is scheduled for March 8, 9, and 10, 1983, at the Kansas Coliseum in Wichita. The Expo will host the annual spring shows and sales of eleven different Kansas beef breed associations, plus an all-breed replacement heifer sale. Also planned is the highly attended 4-H, FFA and junior college livestock judging contest on March 8. Furthermore, there will be a large trade show featuring a wide range of industry products and services.

The Board is comprised of two individuals representing each of the eleven breed associations. Board members are: Ancel Armstrong, Manhattan, Chairman; Lee Copeland, Wichita, Vice Chairman; Alan Albers, Cunningham; Earl Buttonhoff, Topeka; Warren Campbell, Genesee; Lori Fink, Manhattan; Gene Gates, Coldwater; Ron Holland, Osage City; Gregg

A beggar knocked on a door and said to the lady: "I'm hungry. Can I have something to eat?"

The lady said, "Will you eat yesterday's soup?"

He said, "Yes."

She said, "Come back tomorrow."

Painter Promoted By Federal Land Bank

Austin — Penny A. Painter has been promoted to assistant secretary and manager of Office Services at the Federal Land Bank of Texas, according to Thomas H. Benson, president.

She joined the Land Bank in 1976 in the Office Services department, and worked for three years as assistant manager and three years as manager of the department where she is responsible for overseeing the Bank's purchasing, word processing, typesetting, print shop and mail room operations.

Mrs. Painter is the daughter of Hilton and Babie Painter of Brownwood, Texas. She is a member of the American Management Society, and the International Society of Wives.

AVOID CHANGING WELL LEATHERS FOR MANY YEARS

Perma-cups are molded urethane, more wear resistant than nylon. Perma-cups will outlast leather 10 to 1. Their tapered design allows only 1/8" wear, instead of 5/8" of a leather. Much less friction for easier pumping extends cylinder life greatly.

Perma-cups must be used in a good or new cylinder, as they do not swell. Install Urethane Perma-cups, Urethane Check-balls, and Urethane Pump Rod-guides, and don't pull that well for many years.

Thousands are in wells that have not been relathered in 9 years! All are available in standard cylinder and pipe sizes. Write or call for our catalog. We ship same day order is received. This is our 33rd year serving ranchers.

Profitable Books You Should Have

Tax Guide for Farmers—A detailed 350-page book which includes all 1981 tax law changes affecting the farm operation. Designed to help minimize your tax bill, it contains nine big chapters packed with tax-saving methods and suggestions strictly for farmers. Covers tax management as a financial tool; managing farm income and expenses; land and depreciable property; tax reporting and returns; social security taxes; tax aspects of farm business organization; plus additional tax-saving principles and strategies. Price $12.95

Facts & Figures for Farmers—A complete reference handbook with all the facts, calculations, math, tables, and charts you need in the everyday operation of your farm. Full of facts to help calculate inputs, measure land, figure acre capacities, balance rations, calibrate sprayers, analyze budgets, estimate space needs, machinery operating costs . . . to name a few. 348 pages. Thirty chapters on livestock, crops, buildings, equipment, accounting, and much more. Price $9.95

Futures Handbook for Farmers—An 80-page guide covering how the futures market works and how to interpret technical price moves that can help your marketing program even if you never use futures for hedging. Discusses cash/futures relationships; illustrated use of chart formation; details how volume and open interest can help you diagnose market conditions; and helps you spot support and resistance areas that may signal price turnarounds; plus more. Price $3.95

Brass Tacks of Animal Health—A 464 page, hardcover volume no livestock owner should be without. It's packed with answers to the "nuts and bolts" health problems you encounter daily in your operation. Detailed, well-illustrated coverage of disease conditions, signs, causes, prevention, transmission, and treatment. Also covers handling and restraint, reproduction and birth difficulties, nutrition. Complete sections on beef and dairy cattle, hogs, and horses. A real A to Z book on how to keep your animals functioning at top efficiency. Price $19.95

Field and Equipment Record Book—A very popular 160-page system for keeping those non-financial records so important to your success. It helps you organize and detail your production plans for the year, keep facts on key cropping practices, and analyze the results you obtain. Provides section for plotting your farm layout and keeping up to six years of cropping information on up to 26 fields. Also includes areas for recording vital facts on your machinery, equipment, buildings, and tools. Price $10.25

Buying and Selling Farmland—An excellent book on the intricacies connected with the purchase or sale of farm real estate. Its 320 pages cover how to find and buy land with the greatest profit potential; how to determine a fair market value for your land; how to net the most when you sell; how to decide whether to add more land to your operation; how to avoid pitfalls in land transactions. Also includes answers to 130 most asked questions on farmland purchase or sale. Complete, easy to understand. Price $10.95

Farm Management Guide—Contains 336 pages packed with valuable production, management, and marketing information you can put right to work in your operation. Thirteen big chapters provide detailed facts on acquiring a farm; planning and financing; taxes and insurance; soils and crop production; livestock production; buildings, equipment, and machinery; marketing. A complete farm reference. Price $9.95

Farm Buildings (from planning to completion)—A 432-page volume covering every aspect of planning and erecting farm buildings for swine, beef, dairy, poultry, horses as well as farm shops, machinery and crop storage facilities. Contains chapters on building economics, site selection, foundations, floors, walls, roofing, electrical wiring, plumbing, painting, insulation, ventilation, heating systems, and much more. Price $19.95 burdensome to farm families.

We've also managed to cut the 1979 inflation rate from 13.3% to 4.6% for 1982. In the two years 1979 and 1980, farm production expenses rose 30%, last year the rate was only 2% and in 1982 it is estimated that those costs will hardly go up at all. We've reduced the prime interest rate, which was at a peak of 21 1/2% in 1980. We've cut it nearly in half, and I learned on the plane coming down this morning that there one bank had led the way, the others have now joined in, and the general prime rate is 11%.

Now that's still too high, but it's going in the right direction. I'm pleased to announce that even before we knew that it was going down to 11%, the decrease in the Farmer's Home Administration interest rates was to 10 1/4% for operating loans, and 10 1/4% for real estate loans beginning this January 17th. But let's face it, and let's not fool anybody, until farm prices go up, you'll be hurting. Not long ago we proposed a temporary program to help farm families through this difficult period of adjustment.

The policy people called our proposal "payment in kind," that's not very descriptive, it's really a crop-swap, and this is how our crop-swap plan would work. A farmer who takes additional acres out of production would be able to swap what he didn't grow for a certain amount of the commodity already in surplus. He can then do with it as he wishes. The crop-swap program would reduce production, would further cut back in planting, decrease surplus stocks and avoid increased budget outlays that would otherwise be necessary under price support programs. This plan is aimed at bringing supply more in line with demand, and strengthening farm income in future years. It makes our problem, the solution, and farmers taking part will have the same greater net returns, since they will avoid production costs, and their rises, their risks will be lowered. The plan will also alleviate storage problems, and enable sound conservation practices to be applied to more acres.

I think we're all aware of the need to do something about soil erosion. We've got surplus commodities sitting useless in bins and overflowing in warehouses. Let's put that surplus to work to help the American farmer. Those surpluses hanging over the market can't help but have an effect on prices. Now I know the farm bureau already supports our crop-swap plan, in the lame duck Congress, the House passed the plan, the Senate also favored it, but it didn't come to a vote even though only about 1% of the Senate opposed it. Well, the farm families need the benefits this program can offer.

Because these are unusual and critical times on American farms, we don't have to stand around chowing our cud, so without waiting, I am today announcing that within our current authority, we will launch it.

About the dairy program. It comes to no surprise that the taxpayers are looking very, very hard at the amount of money that is going into the dairy industry. Some people see the dairy program as an automatic milking machine for the tax dollars, two billion dollars a year and the bucket seems to take more and more. The taxpayers aren't happy about that, you're not happy about the new .50 cents per hundredweight assessment, and I'm not happy about it.

As you know, the assessment was not the administration's idea. Congress, present company excepted, plopped it in our lap and wrote the savings into the budget as they rejected the more flexible alternative proposed by the administration. If the assessment doesn't cut production, we must work together to develop a better plan for the dairy industry. A plan that is fair to the farmer, and is fair as possible from government's heavy hand.

President Eisenhower certainly knew why Washington should stay out of the farmer's way. I've said that farming looks mighty easy when you plot it on a pencil and you're a thousand miles from a corn field. You have to fight the weather, you have to fight insects, you fight all kinds of natural disasters. You shouldn't have to fight your own government too. As every horseman knows, when a horse is really mad, his ears lay straight back on his head. Well that's about how mad the American farmer is over the unfair trade practices of some of our foreign competitors.

I want to say now, and other countries should take notice, we expect fair access to international agricultural markets. We will not give in to protectionist measures, but at the same time, we aren't going to let ourselves be plowed under. Today in Washington we are talking with the European community about our agricultural concerns. Next week when Prime Minister Nakasone of Japan comes to visit our discussions will include agricultural exports, particularly there, beef and citrus.

And let me add that Bob Delano was one of our representatives at the recent GATT ministerial meeting. He also led your state farm bureau presidents as two international trade delegations. I have a feeling Bob gave the protectionists quite an earful on those trips.

To help counter the massive Export subsidies and eventually bring an end to such practices, one of the things that we are doing is offering overseas purchasers a blended credit program which combines interest-free direct credits with government guaranteed producer credits to produce a lower interest rate to foreign customers. By using $100 million dollars provided by the Congress, we opened the door to additional farm exports of $600 million dollars in 1982. This program worked well that I'm telling you today, we will make available an additional $200 million dollars of direct credit over the coming year, giving the potential for another $1 billion dollars in agricultural export sales.

Our competitors should know that we are pursuing all avenues for redressing unfair trade practices. They are though raiding the henhouse. America only sees fast and open trade, but we've declared, we will be competitive and we will.

Before I go, I want to thank you all for inviting me today. Daniel Webster said, "let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man." I know well that many a heart-felt thank you sometimes mean, so on behalf of the nation let me express our gratitude to America's providers — for putting abundant food on our tables. I believe America can match the strength and energy of her farm families, there are limits to what our people can achieve. Yes, we have a long way to go before we set this country to rights, but God has blessed Americans with a fine spirit and a rich land. With his help and yours, we can fulfill what we are meant to be. Thank you and God bless you.

wheat and soybean crops and everyone knows about the billion pounds of butter, cheese and non-fat dry milk we're holding.

Secretary Block has been so worried about those dairy surpluses, he's aging faster than the cheese, yet while the reserves and the warehouses are bursting at the seams, and despite the fact that we've provided record amounts of price supports, the farmers' wallet holds little more than the stitching. A result of all these disturbing trends is evident in your communities. Low farm prices, low farm incomes. I've seen the news stories on the farm auctions.

Some of you have probably been to them. As a rancher myself, I know that when a family has to give up its farm, it's giving up a part of itself as well. We've instructed the Farmers Home Administration to work with its farmers on a case by case basis to help them get back on their feet. Let me also say any concerns you may have regarding the farm credit system, I support it and expect to continue providing substantial assistance to the farm community as it has in the past.

Now let me expand on some of the things that we are trying to do. Since our farmers' primary market is domestic, the nation's economic strength is essential to a strong agricultural economy. You may recall what inflation, interest rates and taxes were like in 1979 when I spoke at this same convention in Miami. Since then, we've cut the estate taxes that were so burdensome to farm families.

We've also managed to cut the 1979 inflation rate from 13.3% to 4.6% for 1982. In the two years 1979 and 1980, farm production expenses rose 30%, last year the rate was only 2% and in 1982

it is estimated that those costs will hardly go up at all. We've reduced the prime interest rate, which was at a peak of 21 1/2% in 1980. We've cut it nearly in half, and I learned on the plane coming down this morning that there one bank had led the way, the others have now joined in, and the general prime rate is 11%.

Now that's still too high, but it's going in the right direction. I'm pleased to announce that even before we knew that it was going down to 11%, the decrease in the Farmer's Home Administration interest rates was to 10 1/4% for operating loans, and 10 1/4% for real estate loans beginning this

January 17th. But let's face it, and let's

Since World War II one of the wonders of this age has been the way the Japanese industrial machine has leapt-frogged to the head of the class in efficiency and flooded the rest of the world with merchandise of one kind or another at the expense of labor and capital all over the civilized world. But, LO! BEHOLD! their playhouse is in trouble and the same bohemian recession that has crippled the rest of the world has come home to roost in Nippon.

They built steel mills for countries all over the place and especially when the OPEC oil barons had billions for such luxuries, and now they are having trouble with huge shipments of steel from these places and even to Japan's own steel. Korea is giving them fits with steel much cheaper than they can make it.

Truckers Strike Set For January 31

The Independent Truckers Assn. has announced a nationwide strike to begin Jan. 31 as a protest against the recently enacted five cents a gallon tax on fuel. The union is reported to have 100,000 members and these truckers handle an estimated 80% to 90% of the food and farm commodities in the country.

Leaders of the association have made no estimate of how many truckers will almost happened" that appeal to the entire family.

Other special entertainers during each of the rodeo performances include World Champion Trick Roper Gene McLaughlin, who will perform unbelievable feats of trick roping while on boat skates, and Jerry Olson and his trained buffalo, Chief.

The entire Stock Show and Rodeo has been planned for family entertainment. Rodeo tickets are $8 for all nights and weekends and $6 for weekday matinees. Ground admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children, but is included in the price of the rodeo ticket. The ticket office is open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily. After Wednesday, Jan. 26, the box office will operate from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Always a favorite stop of Stock Show visitors are the Children's Barnyard and Milking Parlor. The Barnyard, located between the Sheep and Swine Barns on the show grounds, will be open from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. daily during the show and will feature mother animals with their young, hatching chickens and a baby duck slide. The Milking Parlor, between the small exhibits building and Cattle Barn No. 1 is operated during the dairy show days. It is a glass enclosed facility showing two stalls for milking with clear lines showing how milking time on a dairy is handled.

Gene Lodel Show will again provide a wide variety of rides, games and shows for those who want to venture to the Stock Show Midway, more than six acres of fun and excitement on the east side of the Will Rogers Coliseum.

In all, the 1983 Fort Worth Stock Show has been planned with entertainment and education as its main criteria. Show grounds open from 8 a.m. until midnight.

Commodities Comment

The "bull" has returned to the futures markets, and he's having a field day. Nearly all markets are experiencing higher prices due to a drop in interest rates, fears of inflation, a global debt crisis, and hopes of a United States economic recovery. There is a real "bull" fever supporting most markets. The psychology has changed, it is decidedly bullish, and those still short metals, grains, livestock, stock futures indexes etc. have paid dearly for their out-of-step thinking.

On the Chicago Board of Trade the grains act strong. The farmer is just now beginning to market some of his recently harvested grain and, consequently, the cash markets have softened. But the futures have worked higher.

Now high prices for the month were seen in beans, now crop corn and soybean meal prices. My bias is to sell the rallies in grains. Under current market psychology that is like trying to stop a freight train. If anyone has a good idea as to long-term direction of grains, please call me. At this writing March corn closed at $2.86, March wheat at $3.46, and March soybeans at $5.98.

On the Chicago Mercantile Exchange the cattle market continues to lead the way higher. In the past several days hogs and cattle hit a 15 week high before coming under moderate profit-taking. Again, I suggest traders buy sharp price set-backs. The livestock complex should remain firm into the first quarter of 1983. The April cattle option looks a little overextended at this time, and a move back to $59.00 would not be unexpected. At this writing April cattle closed at $61.95, April hogs $56.95, and February bellies at $87.92.

The metal markets are for real. The world has been waiting for 2-3 years for bull markets in exotic metals and that move appears well under way. I believe that 1983 will witness tremendous bull markets in the so called strategic metals. These markets will respond with sharply higher prices to an improving world economy or any disruption of supply from their producers.

I have mentioned before that the palladium market led the way higher for precious metals followed by platinum, then silver and finally gold. The price of palladium has doubled in less than 90 days. The metal markets have also witnessed major price realignments in the platinum/gold spreads. I anticipate a new price relationship between silver and gold. I believe that spread should narrow to about 30 to 1 premium gold.

The next several months will offer the speculator some fantastic opportunities in the metal markets. But due to their extreme volatility and the fact that they have already had a sharp up-move, I urge caution. Remember that gold this year should be follower and not a leader.

My guess is that when a sharp break in the metals markets begins, it will be led by gold. The "bulls" before gold will hit $700, silver $20, and platinum $750 before years end. Sounds like a lot of fun doesn't it? At this writing February gold closed at $490, February silver $12.84, April platinum $480, and June palladium $127.95.

strike. The strike does not have the backing of the American Trucking Assn. The Independents staged a month long strike in 1979 protesting rising fuel costs and government regulation. The deregulation of the trucking industry has been protested by the major truck lines who say free entry to the business is about to wreck their firms. However, it has been welcomed by the Independents as opening new routes and markets for them.

It does appear certain that a protracted strike would seriously affect livestock and agriculture and the movement of food and raw materials.

79th Annual Texas
Farmers Union
Convention Jan. 20-22

(CONT. FROM PAGE 1A)

According to Mike Moeller, President of the Texas Farmers Union, "this year's convention is certainly timely with many new faces around the capital and a growing awareness of the problems facing our farmers and ranchers among our newly elected state-wide officials. We are especially gratified that Jim Hightower, our new Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, understands first hand the institutional and financial injustices heaped upon our farmers and ranchers."

Scheduled convention speakers include National Farmers Union President George Stone, Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Hightower, Texas Land Commissioner Gary Nauro, State Treasurer Am Richards, and Governor Mark White has been invited.

Other topics will include a seminar on recreational leasing of agricultural land and official adoption of policy for the Texas Farmers Union.

The convention opens Thursday, January 20 at 8:30 a.m. and the final gavel will fall Saturday at the conclusion of the banquet.

1982 Drilling Summary
Reflects Gains

Austin - Texas operators reported 1,421 gas and 702 oil discoveries in 1982, exceeding the total reported the previous year.

In 1981, 1,279 gas and 588 oil discoveries were filed with the Railroad Commission, which regulates drilling for production of oil and gas in the state.

Completions reported to the Railroad Commission in 1982 were also up compared to a year ago. Operators reported 18,296 oil, 6,273 gas, and 629 service completions, for a total of 23,194. Reports filed with the Commission for 1981 reflected 15,827 oil, 5,454 gas, and 400 service completions, for a total of 21,641. The 1982 completion total includes wells which were spudded in 1981 but not completed in that year.

Total new holes drilled (including wildcats, existing field, service holes, and dry holes) in 1982 were 28,737, which represented a nine percent increase over 1981's total of 24,722.

Applications to drill, deepen, or plug back, and for service wells, totalled 31,569 for 1982. There were also 9,693 amended drilling applications filed, bringing to total number of drilling applications received in 1982 to 41,224, a decrease of 14 percent compared to the total of 47,940 drilling applications received by the Commission in 1981.

The show, held in conjunction with the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, is one of the most prestigious shows on the Brangus show circuit. Brangus cattle will be exhibited from all regions throughout the United States.

Linthicum has tremendous experience in the showing with the judging of many national shows to his credit. He has judged two National Charolais

SELLING AND JUDGING

Our Girl Friday . . .

By ANN SYLER

Lee Bentley Syler II, our fourth grandchild, was born December 22nd in Santa Cruz, Bolivia. His father, our oldest son, flew in on Christmas Eve and walked in as a total surprise on us, which made all four of us home for Christmas. So that was quite an ending to 1982.

1983 has gotten off to just as rousing a start as 1982 ended, with two bull sales that have been better than anyone expected them to be. The prices are down from last year, of course, but no-one could ask for more enthusiasm than we have had from buyers. Nor for more numbers of buyers for that matter.

The Kansas Brangus Association held their second annual sale on January 8th in Salina, KS, selling 65 bulls to 84 buyers, and when looking at the map of Kansas following the sale, we found that they came from the far western edge of the state, to the north right on the Nebraska border, to the south on the Oklahoma border and quite a number of them from the far eastern and central areas.

A representative from one of the publications in Kansas said he had never seen a bull sale in that state draw from every area of the state as did this one. Then this past weekend was the

with only bow and arrow and spears to hunt, and the one who returned with the largest food supply would be named chief, as who would be the best provider for the tribe. This was agreed to by all concerned. At the end of the three days, Running Deer brought into camp not only venison, turkey and fowl of all description, but also fish, geese, rabbits and bacon, enough food for his people for several months. Falling Rock did not return on this day, nor did he for several days following. At the end of those several days, the saddened Chief named Running Deer as the new Chief to succeed him, and also called all men from the tribe together to instruct them about the search that was to be made for his missing son, as a dreadful thing of some kind must have befallen him, lest he would have returned on the specified day. The old chief went so far as to offer a reward his grief was so great. The reward was all of the treasures of the tribe, including those several stacks of rocks that they had, of which they had heard a tale that a strange white man prided so highly, called gold. And so, the search began, and this is where the legend ends. To this day, no trace has been found. The reward is still there for the taking, noticed on your drives through the Hill Country how many signs you see with the message "Watch for Falling Rock". I believe that's quite enough for this month, don't you?

Sightseer admissions to the Elifie Tower repaid the construction costs within the first year.

Williams Brangus Tops Arizona National

Mr. Williams 942-182M was named grand champion bull by judge Glen Klippenstein, of Maysville, Missouri. Mr. Williams, also named senior champion, is a son of WSR Cloud 942 and is owned by Robert Lyon, Midland, TX, and Clayton and Modesta Williams, Ft. Stockton, TX.

Reserve grand champion went to Clayton and Modesta Williams on ClayDesta 650-128N, a WSR Rocky Joe 650 son. This bull was also selected as calf champion.

Clayton and Modesta Williams were also the exhibitors of the grand champion female, Williams 650-34N 4. She is a September 1981 daughter of WSR Rocky Joe 650.

CLC Ms. General 17/1, owned by Casablanca Land & Cattle, Yuma, AZ, was selected as the reserve grand champion female. The junior champion was sired by Brinks General 386K.

Other winners in the female division were reserve calf champion Williams 650-98N 13, exhibited by Clayton and Modesta Williams; and reserve junior champion, A D Easter 175, exhibited by Eleven Dees, Dees, Yuma, AZ.

Other champions in the bull division include: reserve calf champion, ClayDesta 419-197, owned by Clayton and Modesta Williams and Spring Creek Ranch, Searcy, AR; junior champion, A D Black Duke 122, exhibited by Alex Dees, Yuma, AZ; and reserve junior champion, Lile Tee's Muses 240, owned by Easterday Farms.

Entries exhibited by Clayton and Modesta Williams swept the group competition winning the pair of bulls, pair of females and get-of-sire competition.

January 20, 1983 WEEKLY LIVESTOCK REPORTER Page 15A Unsubstantiated Dietary Recommendations Could Damage Meat Industry, Expert Says

Scientists who make dietary recommendations based on very few or no hard facts are becoming more vocal and that trend could still trouble for the livestock and meat industry, according to Dr. Burdette C. Breidenstein, director of research/nutrition information for the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Speaking at the International Stockmen's School in San Antonio, Tex. Jan. 4-5, Breidenstein said some scientists seem to be willing to make sweeping dietary recommendations on the premise that such changes involve an acceptable risk level for adverse effects and may possibly result in benefits. It is disturbing that such a segment of the scientific community seems to be gaining in influence, especially in the popular press," he said.

While many of these dietary recommendations have been anti-meat, Breidenstein said, "there has been and continues to be - an increasing body of scientific knowledge reflecting the positive contributions of meat to the diet of man."

"Red meat continues to be a vital contributor to the satisfaction of the human requirements in the U.S.," he said. "The recommendation to consume a balanced and varied diet, including foods from all food groups, remains the most effective approach to good nutrition."

Breidenstein cautioned, however, that our nutrient needs are not a "singular quantifiable entity." They depend on many factors, including age, sex, level of physical activity, genetics and general state of health.

Trying to relate our health solely to diet is similar to studying a single tree without recognizing the existence of the forest around it, according to Breidenstein. "The over-simplification of Dairy Cattle, Ralph Bone, Manhattan, Kansas, will be the judge. In the Sheep and Angora Goat classes the judges will be Fine Wool, Fred Igou, Eldorado, Texas; Medium Wool - Barrie Ward, Kerrville, Tex.; Goats - Armer Earwood, Sweeny, Texas.

Open Breeding Swine Judge will be Dick Morton, Hennepin, Oklahoma.

In the junior show, judges selected are Steven - Judge - Bill Jacob, Luis Obispo, California; Market Lamb - Classified - Jack Groff, Kerrville, Texas; Judge - Dennis Dean, Lawton, Oklahoma; Market Barrow - Sifter - Dr. T.L. Tanksley, Jr., College Station, Texas; Judge - Al Christensen, Ames, Iowa; Sheep and Goat Show - Fine Wool - Fred Igou, Eldorado, Texas; Medium Wool - Barrie Ward, Kerrville, Texas; Goats - Armer Earwood, Sonoma, Texas; Dairy Show - Paul D. Payne, Paris, Texas; Ready-to-Cook Poultry Show - Sifter - James Denton, College Station, Texas; Judge - Dr. David Mellor, College Station, Texas.

The sale has an interesting story behind it. In early December, Tina Williams, Fairview Farms' Fitter/Nutritionist, who was the 1982 Ohio Junior Simmental Association Secretary/Treasurer and was concurrently the Ohio Simmental Association Queen, returned to her home in New Carlisle for a week to fulfill her duties at the Ohio State Sale and annual meeting. Duckworth was also at the Ohio sale, as a buyer, and Tina told him about some of the cattle she was presently fitting at Fairview Farms.

The following week, Duckworth came to Lafayette, spent three days going through the fullblood herd and made his selections.

Fairview Farms herd manager, Dallas Trahan, who negotiated the sale with Duckworth, has assured Tina that she can return to the Ohio State Sale again next year to talk about South Louisiana Simmentals.

very important role in the economic health of this great industry," he said.

Breidenstein noted advances in boxed meat packaging, electrical stimulation, restructured meats, new distribution systems, frozen products and various packaging techniques as ways the meat processing industry is reacting with new technologies that could have a positive effect on the overall meat industry.

Fairview Farms Ends Year With Major Sale

On December 17, 1982, Fairview Farms of Lafayette, Louisiana, negotiated the largest private treaty sale of fullblood Simmentals in its history. The 22 head of cattle were shipped in two lots, one shipment going West to Reyes Simmental Ranch in San Antonio and the other going East to D and R Simmental in Cynthiana, Kentucky. Harold Duckworth of Cynthiana was the agent for the dual transaction.

Fairview Farms owner, Bob Lowe, says he was particularly pleased with this size sale as it shows a basic strength in the fullblood Simmental market, in spite of a general weak cattle industry in America today. Lowe pointed out that one buyer, Reyes Simmental Ranch, was the first Simmental breeder in the State of Texas, and that Harold Duckworth has the oldest Simmental operation East of the Mississippi River.

Polled Hereford NEWS

by RAY MAHAN
TPHA Secretary-Manager

The annual meeting and banquet of the Texas Polled Hereford Association will be held, Jan. 30 in Fort Worth, TX. The meeting is a part of the Polled Hereford activities during the Fort Worth Stock Show.

Kahler Green Oaks Hotel will be the headquarters for the meeting and reservations need to be made by contacting the hotel or the TPHA office. A block of 50 rooms has been set aside for the association.

Highlight of the annual get-together will be the Southwest Heifer Futurity & Select Sale that will be held on Saturday, Jan. 29. Some 10 females and 10 bulls are to be sold and they are of the highest quality representing breeders from Texas and Oklahoma. The heifer futurity will be held before the sale with $100 in prize money being awarded.

Mary Newton, president of the Texas Polled Hereford Association Pollites has announced the sale of the annual Pollite heifer. This heifer will be sold during the Select sale and has been donated by Copper Ponny Ranch of Cooper, owned by John & Joyce Pierce. Boyd Cattle Service of Hamilton will fit the heifer for the sale free of charge.

Also during the annual meeting, the Texas Pollites will hold their annual meeting at 10 a.m. on Jan. 30. The meeting will be at the Green Oaks and all pollites are urged to attend the meeting.

At the general membership meeting Sunday at 5 p.m. and the general Pollite membership meeting at 10 a.m., door prizes will be awarded to members attending the meetings. The prizes will be donated by organizations interested in the Polled Hereford people.

Another feature of the annual membership banquet will be the 1983 edition directory ad auction. In the past this has been a very successful event and Jim Birdwell will be the auctioneer for the sale. Prime pages in the directory will be sold to the highest bidders without regard to the previous page owners.

Following is a schedule of the Polled Hereford activities at the Fort Worth Stock Show and I sincerely urge everyone to attend and be a part of a great week of Polled Herefords.

Saturday, Jan. 29th - 6:30 p.m. - Heifer Futurity, Cattle Sale Arena
Saturday, Jan. 29th - 7:00 p.m. - Select Sale, Cattle Sale Arena
Sunday, Jan. 30th - 10:00 a.m. - Texas Pollite General Membership Meeting

Pricklypear — Friend or Foe

College Station — Pricklypear is a controversial plant because some ranchers see it as a health hazard to livestock while others consider it a valuable part of range resources.

In 1980, pricklypear was estimated to inhabit 26.5 million acres of Texas rangelands, says Dr. Wayne Hanselka of Corpus Christi, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. This means pricklypear infests about 25 percent of Texas' rangeland.

At least one species of pricklypear exists in every vegetational area of the state, Hanselka explains. Most common types are dog cactae, Englemann, nopal and plains pricklypear.

Pricklypear may be six feet tall or short and widespread, alone or clumped together. It is adapted to arid and semiarid climates, with modified stems, pads and spines for better water conservation, notes Hanselka.

Reproduction is by seeds and the ability of pads to root under favorable conditions. This ability has caused heavy infestations of pricklypear on rangelands root-plowed for brush control, says the range specialist.

When a pad is broken and scattered over the soil surface, it is capable of producing another plant. Hanselka explains. Each plant can grow 5 feet tall and 10 feet in diameter within four years. This means a light infestation can grow and develop in epidemic proportions and eventually render an area useless for grazing.

Pricklypear does best when ranges are in poor shape and suffering from drought but declines when ranges improve.

as well as external injuries. Such animals often remain in poor condition throughout the year, Hanselka points out.

The fact that sheep relish pricklypear fruit can become a problem since seed often become compacted in their stomachs causing partial or complete blockage and often death.

Pricklypear is a favorite of some wildlife. White-tailed deer and javelina feed on pricklypear while bobwhite quail use the plant for nesting and cover.

A recent survey of ranchers reflects differing opinions about pricklypear.

Nearly 50 percent of the ranchers in the Edwards Plateau have serious livestock health problems because of the plant, Hanselka points out, while in South Texas 80 percent of the ranchers consider it to have positive values.

In the final analysis, pricklypear advantages include cost reductions of supplemental feed during drought and winter, lessening of soil erosion and protection of grasses on overstocked ranges, and food and cover for wildlife.

Disadvantages are its low feed value, high costs for singeing needles to allow animals to feed on the plant, possible health hazards to animals and reduced total forage production due to its presence on ranges.

Ranchers need to deal with pricklypear according to their grazing management and personal objectives, advises Hanselka. It can be a friend or foe depending on how they view the spiny plant.

There is nothing wrong with having nothing to say — unless you insist on saying it.

Fat Stock Show in earlier days at North Side Coliseum

Nothing's Like It Used To Be, But Sometimes That's Better.

The Fat Stock Show started out as a simple affair under the spreading branches of live oak and pecan trees. Cattle were the only stock present at the first show in 1896, but as the Stock Show grew, it offered the public a larger and better exhibit.

People now find that their bank also offers them more than ever before. When you come to Fort Worth for the Stock Show, stop in at one of the Fort Worth area banks and ask about the special services. You'll be surprised at how much we have to offer.

"NEW STUFF" (continued)New Hog Rations Reduce Scours, Setback

St. Louis — Producers striving to get baby pigs off to a faster start now have an opportunity to significantly reduce post weaning setback and scour, thanks to a reformulated line of baby pig and starter feeds recently introduced byRalston Purina Company.

"The new formulas and feeding weight recommendations are based on three years of development at our swine research facilities in Missouri," explained Dr. Bud Harmon, director of swine research for Purina. "These new baby pig and starter rations significantly reduce post weaning scour and setback, which occur at a critical time in the pig's development. Our research has shown that getting pigs off to a fast-gaining, healthy start between the ages of three and five weeks is crucial to their long-term ability to gain rapidly and efficiently," he added.

According to Harmon, feeding trials with the newly-formulated feeds produced average daily gains in newly weaned pigs that were, "at the very least, 30 percent better than the prior formulation. We are avoiding the post-weaning lags."

Purina's feeding recommendations for Pig Starter and Hog Grower Chows have also been revised to allow producers to put pigs on a grower ration at 40 rather than 60 pounds. "This change enables hog producers who pay careful attention to the health and nutrition needs of their 40 lb. pigs to use a less expensive grower ration for the next ten pounds of gain," Dr. Harmon said.

Similar adjustments have been made to grind and mix rations, with special improvements to increase the palatability of starter feeds. "By changing the use of certain ingredients, such as whey, we have been able to markedly improve the palatability of our grind and mix starter feeds. The grind and mix rations also include the formula changes that improve stool consistency and reduce scour," explained the Purina researcher.

Feeding weight recommendations have also been changed for the entire line of High Octane rations, according to Harmon, "to reflect the industry's shift to raising meatier hogs."

"The new formulas and feeding weights for Hog Grower and Hog Finisher Chows increase amino acid content to provide the animals with the raw material they need to make the best use of their genetic and inborn potential to use feed efficiently," explained Dr. Harmon.

For free brochures on the new feeds, producers can write Hog Chows Marketing, Ralston Purina, Checkerboard Square, St. Louis, MO 63164.

Survey Reports Information Needs of Farmers and Ranchers Changing

Chicago — A financial management evolution is occurring on farms across the United States and Canada, according to results of a joint study by Arthur Andersen & Co. and the University of Illinois.

Innovative farmers and ranchers are rapidly adopting sophisticated financial tools to cope with an increasingly complex economic environment. In this, the first major study of financial management practices on the farm, results show innovative farmers are adopting these practices because they believe effective financial management will be critical to survival.

"In the farm environment this means that physical production management is no longer the key indicator of success," said Norman Carlson, an Arthur Andersen & Co. partner and member of the firm's Agribusiness Industry Team. "Return on investment and ability to generate cash flow are equal in importance to bushels per acre or pounds gained from unit of feed."

The survey was conducted by Arthur Andersen & Co., an international public accounting and consulting organization, and the Department of Agricultural Economics, College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Opinions on farm information management came from 535 innovative producers, agricultural lenders and consultants in the United States and Canada.

Innovative producers are those farmers and ranchers who have more rapidly adopted new technologies and information management techniques than producers in general. Their responses refer to innovative producers such as themselves. In contrast, the lender and consultant respondents were asked to consider practices of all commercial farmers and ranchers.

The study shows that innovative agricultural producers are adopting sophisticated accounting systems, small business computers, periodic financial statements and outside management consulting services to manage their farm finances. For example, the smaller computer could become as important to farmers and ranchers as it is to the non-farm small businessman," Carlson explained.

Dr. Thomas L. Frey, Professor of Agricultural Economics at

Agricultural Finance at the University of Illinois, explained that more sophisticated business practices used more extensively throughout the business community have had their impact on producers. "Seventy-five percent of producer respondents report preparing balance sheets, income statements and projected cash flow statements to document their financial position and economic performance," he said. "As farms grow larger, each producer reports to more landowners and lenders who increasingly require competent financial statements."

The rapid acceptance of computers among the agricultural community offers evidence of an increasing interest in effectively controlling financial information. "Respondents estimated that only 3% of all producers currently own computers," said Dr. Steven T. Sonka, professor of Agricultural Economics at the University of Illinois. "However, they expect that one of every six farmers will acquire a computer within the next five years. With approximately 370,000 commercial farmers and ranchers in the United States and Canada, the survey suggests that in the near future about 60,000 computers will be used on farms."

More than 80% of respondents expect computers to be used for maintaining production records, monitoring receipts and expenditures, performing strategic planning and acquiring market information," Sonka said.

Rotary Sifter Separates Fines From Feed

A new rotary sifter is said to separate 99.5% fines from pelleted feed or other products when operated at rates up to 100 tons per hour. It is manufactured by California Pellet Mill Co. under license from A. Wijneveen B.V., The Netherlands.

According to CPM, the CryoC Rotary Sifter utilizes centrifugal force to gently roll pellets or other coarse material off the edge of a rotating, non-clogging screen and into a bag or carrier. Industrial applications suggested include chemicals, foods, dairy products, pharmaceuticals, animal feeds, and plastics. Typical applications noted by the manufacturer include dressing out fines from pellets being discharged from bulk bins during vehicle loading, screening before bagging or after discharge from a loader, separation of fine particles before the grinder, or removal of coarse impurities during intake. The CryoC is also used as a means of increasing grinder capacity and energy efficiency or as a scalper to remove foreign materials before further processing.

Both single- and dual-screen models are offered. The dual-screen model permits the operator to screen alternate product sizes. When processing small particles, the upper screen containing the smaller perforations is lowered by an actuator onto the lower screen which has the larger of the two perforations. Raising the upper screen exposes the lower screen for processing larger particles only. A wide choice of screen sizes is available.

Operation is said to be extremely quiet. Moreover, adds CPM, installation vats and spray-dip machines. The EPA regulation for such use has been continued (i.e. not cancelled), subject to more stringent requirements for application and disposal.

New Restrictions
The new restrictions will be specified on the amended toxaphene labels and will include:

1. User registration as a certified pesticide applicator who may handle restricted use pesticides.
2. Protective clothing for applicators and assistants.

3. Concentration of vat solution established at 0.8% toxaphene for scabies control, with correct mixing to maintain this concentration.
4. Prohibition against disposal or dispersal into surface or ground water.

5. Disposal of dip solution in accordance with the label and with provisions of the EPA hazardous waste regulation promulgated under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA).

EPA previously indicated that it would ban most uses of toxaphene, but it said that use of toxaphene as a cattle dip for scabies would continue to be permitted. NCA then took action to develop information to help the industry understand the new regulations regarding use and disposal of toxaphene.

Technical advisors from the NCA Environmental Management and Animal Health Committees — Dr. John Swinton of Texas A&M University and Dr. Jim Gossler, Montana state veterinarian — met in Washington to write the guidelines. Working with them were EPA officials, Animal Health Committee Chairman Bill Gallagher and NCA staffers Ron Michelli and Tom Cook. The association will continue to keep in touch with EPA in order to see that the new, more stringent regulations are workable.

Following are the recent report and guidelines prepared by the task force.

For a cattlemen to comply with RCRA in use and disposal of toxaphene, one of three conditions must be met:

- A. He qualifies as a "farmer disposing of waste pesticides from his own use," triple-rinse empty containers, and disposes of pesticide residues on his own land in a manner consistent with the label;

- B. He practices legitimate beneficial reuse or recycling of waste pesticide solution; or

- C. He complies with RCRA registration and permit requirements for hazardous waste generators, transporters, or operators of a storage, treatment, or disposal facilities.

As a result of NCA leadership, the two EPA divisions that regulate toxaphene (Office of Pesticide Programs and Office of Solid Waste) are now working on recommended label changes to provide for environmentally safe but practical continued use of toxaphene for scabies control in beef cattle and sheep. The label changes being contemplated would still allow acceptable methods of land application and thus would assure continued toxaphene availability to the beef cattle industry subject to market conditions.

Key EPA representatives working with NCA on these proposals are hopeful that cattlemen compliance with a properly written toxaphene label will eliminate the present necessity of compliance with RCRA hazardous waste regulations as a separate requirement.

New Guidelines on Toxaphene Use, Disposal Are Developed

Guidelines on the use and disposal of toxaphene by the cattle industry have been developed by a special NCA task force.

The guidelines were developed in cooperation with officials of the divisions of the Environmental Protection Agency which are involved in solid waste disposal, pesticide use and enforcement.

EPA previously indicated that it would ban most uses of toxaphene, but it said that use of toxaphene as a cattle dip for scabies would continue to be permitted. NCA then took action to develop information to help the industry understand the new regulations regarding use and disposal of toxaphene.

Technical advisors from the NCA Environmental Management and Animal Health Committees — Dr. John Swinton of Texas A&M University and Dr. Jim Gossler, Montana state veterinarian — met in Washington to write the guidelines. The association will continue to keep in touch with EPA in order to see that the new, more stringent regulations are workable.

Following are the recent report and guidelines prepared by the task force.

As announced at a press conference on Oct. 18, 1982, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has issued a notice of intent to cancel or restrict the regulation of pesticides containing toxaphene for most uses. The notice of intent, published in the Federal Register on Nov. 29, 1982, ended a 5½-year technical review process, with the conclusion that potential risks to wildlife and human health resulting from toxaphene exposure were higher than the economic and agricultural benefits.

The cattle and sheep industries, however, will still be able to use toxaphene for scabies treatment in dipping stocks may not be sold or used; they will have to be disposed of as a hazardous waste under RCRA.

For a cattlemen to comply with RCRA in use and disposal of toxaphene, one of three conditions must be met:

A. He qualifies as a "farmer disposing of waste pesticides from his own use," triple-rinse empty containers, and disposes of pesticide residues on his own land in a manner consistent with the label;

B. He practices legitimate beneficial reuse or recycling of waste pesticide solution; or

C. He complies with RCRA registration and permit requirements for hazardous waste generators, transporters, or operators of a storage, treatment, or disposal facilities.

"NEW STUFF" (continued)Cool Season Clovers Help Perennial PasturesBy Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Clovers, long valued for their help in soil building, are looking better than ever as a method of holding down pasture costs, according to scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Three benefits of cool-season annual clovers, mixed with warm-season perennial grasses, are to extend the grazing season with high-quality that studies have shown that there are no distinct differences in in vitro dry matter digestibility (IVDMD), or crude protein values when comparing palatable and unpalatable species.

In fact, highly unpalatable weeds such as giant ragweed and common cocklebur frequently have higher IVDMD and protein values than the palatable weeds.

The most common methods of weed control in permanent pastures are mowing and herbicides. Although generally economical, they increase the costs of forage production.

Evers compared spring-weed production for two years on grass sods overseeded with clover, receiving various rates of nitrogen fertilizer or receiving nitrogen fertilizer and simazine.

The study was conducted on established Coastal bermudagrass and Pensacola bahiagrass sods growing on a Crowley fine sandy loam. Each fall, 160 lb. and 30 lb./acre, respectively of phosphorus and potassium were applied.

"Yuchi" arrowleaf clover was broadcast each October at 4 lbs. (pure live seed) per acre in 1978 and 1979.

Mt. Barker' subterranean clover was seeded at 12 lb. pure live seed per acre, in October 1978 and volunteered in the fall 1979.

Grass plots without clover received nitrogen treatments of 0, 75, 150, 225, or 300 lb./acre, in three equal applications on about April 1, June 1, and August 1 in 1978, 1979, and 1980. Three additional treatments were 0, 75, and 150 lb./acre, applied as above, plus simazine applied at 1 lb./acre, each February for weed control.

Yellow foxtail, little barley, clasping coneflower, and common witchgrass were the major weeds. Evers says,

In 1979, weed production on Coastal bermuda decreased as nitrogen rate increased. A similar trend did not occur in 1980.

Applying simazine in February substantially reduced spring weed yields. Clovers were as effective as simazine the first year in controlling weeds and were more effective the second year.

Weeds were not as prevalent in the bahiagrass because of its more competitive tight sod," Evers says.

However, the simazine and clover treatments did reduce the amount of weeds. There was a decrease in weed yields from the first to the second year for all treatment.

"As on the Coastal, there was no significant difference in weed yields between use of simazine and overseeding with clover. Weeds were eliminated the second year where clover was grown.

"These data demonstrate that cool-season clovers are as effective as hercules for spring weed control on warm-season perennial grasses. By the second year, no weeds were present on the subterranean clover plots and after quality forage." Every concluded.

moisture conditions, clovers can impede growth of the summer grasses.

"Clovers can be a major part of an integrated pest management system for pastures, in addition to adding symbiotically-fixed nitrogen and extending the grazing season with high-quality forage." Every concluded.

open membership meetings, where Association members may offer suggestions and discuss topics of importance to AQHA and the industry.

Also of interest will be the Second Annual Exposition and the American Quarter Horse Foundation Benefit Auction. The exposition will take place each day of the convention, offering spectators a look at the nation's top equine product manufacturer's wares.

AQHA's American Quarter Horse Foundation Benefit Auction also will be hosted by AQHA's Executive Secretary Ronnie Blackwell.

Scheduled for March 13-16, in Denver, Colo., at the Denver Hilton, this year's Convention will feature equine-related seminars and activities and a chance for AQHA members to meet Association officials and help plan the upcoming year in the Quarter Horse industry.

Membership and Standing Committee meetings will offer AQHA members a chance to see the Association's decision-making process in action. AQHA President Robert Norris will preside at the night of Wednesday, March 16, will be filled with awards presentations to many of the top Quarter Horses and their owners during the annual Convention Banquet. High point year and awards and Quarter Horse racing champions, will be presented during this annual affair.

Those planning on attending the convention will, for the first time, be able to pre-register, negating waits in registration lines at the Denver Hilton. Advance registration forms are available in The Quarter Horse Journal or may be asked for by contacting AQHA headquarters. Once pre-registered, members may pick up name tags and tickets immediately after arriving at the Denver Hilton. Advance registration must be made prior to March 1, 1983. On site registration will be available also.

Reservations for hotel and airline arrangements are suggested. For Denver Hilton reservations, telephone (303) 593-3388. Flight reservations may be made through American Airlines, the official airlines of the AQHA, by telephoning (800) 438-1790. Ask for Star Number S-5342. Further convention information is available in The Quarter Horse Journal or through AQHA headquarters.

NCA Supports Plan For Committee on Dietary Guidelines

Denver — The National Cattlemen's Assn. has advised the U.S. Department of Agriculture that it supports USDA's establishment of Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee.

NCA's comment was made in response to a USDA announcement that it planned to set up a committee of scientists to review comments on the government's Dietary Guidelines. The guidelines were issued in early 1980 by USDA and the Department of Health and Human Services.

USDA said the nine scientists on the advisory group would make any recommendations which the committee deemed appropriate.

In a letter to Dr. Esther Winterfeldt, administrator of USDA's Human Nutrition Information Service, NCA said it felt that establishment of the advisory committee was appropriate and that recommendations based on sound, objective scientific assessment of diet-health information would be in the best interest of the consuming public and the beef cattle industry.

The letter, from Bill Webster, chairman of NCA's Beef Promotion and Consumer Relations Committee, noted that NCA previously told USDA of its concerns about dietary guidelines issued by federal government. Of primary concern, it was explained, was a blanket recommendation to avoid or cut back on saturated fat and/or cholesterol as a way to reduce heart disease incidence.

Even though the guidelines did not specifically recommend a reduction in meat consumption, the recommendation on fat has been interpreted by some persons as meaning people should "eat less meat." This situation has resulted in repeated dissemination of misleading information to the public, NCA said.

NCA said its comment was in response to a USDA announcement that it planned to set up a committee of scientists to review comments on the government's Dietary Guidelines. The guidelines were issued in early 1980 by USDA and the Department of Health and Human Services.

Webster pointed out that NCA previously submitted information on the positive aspects of beef, and it provided scientific citations refuting the diet-fat-cholesterol-disease hypothesis.

He said NCA looked forward to having this material reviewed by the committee.

Three persons on the advisory committee will represent USDA, three will be named from a list of nominees recommended by the National Academy of Sciences. USDA will function as the lead agency. The Secretary of Agriculture will name a committee chairman, and USDA's Human Nutrition Information Service will provide input and will be responsible for publishing and distributing reports.

My column this month will be brief due to "vacation fever." Before taking off I would like to call your attention to some Santa Gertrudis sales coming up and encourage you to put these on your calendar. First Delta Santa Gertrudis Association Sale, February 15, 7:00 P.M. in Jackson, MS. Second, Mid-Coast Santa Gertrudis Association Super Sale, February 26, 10:00 A.M., Super Sale Saloon, Houston, TX. This will be followed by the All-Poll Santa Gertrudis Association Sale at 1:30 P.M. at the same location. Third, All-Poll Santa Gertrudis Association Sale of the Southeast, March 23, 1:00 P.M., Calhoun, GA. Fourth, Southern Classic Sale, April 22-23, All-Bamo Ranches in New Albany, MS. Fifth, Mossy Oaks Ranch First Annual Production Sale, May 19, 1:00 P.M., Bellville, TX. Sixth, Tri-Star Santa Gertrudis Sale, May 20, Brenham, TX. Seventh, Mid-Coast Santa Gertrudis Association Spring Sale, May 21, Brenham, TX. And eighth, Razor Back Century Plus Santa Gertrudis Sale, June 4, 1:00 P.M., Porter Rodgers Farm, Searcy, AR.

Although we are barely into 1983, we are already looking ahead to sales for 1984. Mrs. G.E. Tankersley, owner of Hat Ranch, Williams, AZ is making plans for a production sale in '84. This will be the first time in years that a Santa Gertrudis sale has been held in that "neck of the woods." More about this at a later date.

It's about time to go on the road again with the show cattle for the Mid-Winter and Early Spring shows. The shows we will be making for our exhibitors are — Fort Worth, TX,

New Regulations on Bangs Outlined

Austin — Regulations designed to encourage vaccination for brucellosis control went into effect Jan. 12. They will apply to cattle being shipped into Texas as well as cattle being moved interstate.

Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, said that vaccination of eligible female cattle is a cornerstone of the Texas brucellosis program. "The new regulations reflect this. In order to more effectively control brucellosis, we simply need to get more cattle vaccinated," he said.

More than 98 percent of all cattle herds in Texas are now free of brucellosis. "This is a good record, but we need to get at the remaining infection in this state. These regulations relating to vaccination will help us accomplish this goal," Dr. Holcombe said.

The two-area program for Texas will become Class B and Class C as of Jan. 12. This means the present Class A control area which comprises 140 counties in the western half of the state will become Class B. The present Class A area, which comprises 114 counties in the eastern half of the state, will become Class C area.

Selling will be an outstanding selection of Polled Santa Gertrudis cattle. Auctioneer will be Gerald Bowie. Sale headquarters will be the Astro Village Hotel, 713/748-3221 in Houston, Texas.

Selling will be quality Santa Gertrudis at halter including herd sires, three-in-one packages and bred heifers. Sale co-chairmen are Gene Kubacka and Jerome Urbancko. Auctioneer will be Gerald Bowie.

For information contact Superior Sales, Buddy Smith, Rt. 2, Box 174, Huntville, Texas 77340, 713/291-1891 or 295-4401.

vice conducts the monthly weighings. Bulls in the test are all purebred Santa Gertrudis and were not more than one year of age when the test started; some of the animals were only five or six months old.

Martin announced that a sale will be held at the ranch on Friday morning, April 29, at the conclusion of the test. Breeders participating in the test are: Ben Alexander, Kenedy, Texas; Dwight Bingham, Kenedy, Texas; Briggs Ranches, San Antonio, Texas; La Campana Ranch, George West, Texas; Chaparro Ranch, Uvalde, Texas; Dale Elrod, Riviera, Texas; J.M. Fly, Victoria, Texas; Lee Hammack, Kenedy, Texas; Keating-Leffeste Cattle Co., Kenedy, Texas; Gene Kubacka, Bay City, Texas; Lackey Ranch, Yorktown, Texas; Jack Linden, Kenedy, Texas; Llano River Cattle Co., Llano, Texas; Longfellow Ranch, Sanderson, Texas; Rancho La Morita, Rio Grande City, Texas; C.E. Cattlemen's All-Breed Bull Sale at El Campo Set for January 29

Washington — The Agriculture Department reported last week record 1982 corn, wheat and soybean harvests, as expected.

In its annual summary of crop production, the department said the 1982 corn crop rose 2% from the year before to 8.4 billion bushels. The yield per acre was a record 114.8 bushels, up five bushels an acre from 1981.

The wheat crop rose slightly to 2.81 billion bushels. The yield per acre was a record 36.6 bushels, up 1.1 bushels an acre from 1981.

All bulls are fertility tested and selected from 16 breeders in the coastal plains region of Texas.

Class C state or area require two negative tests 60 days apart until July 1, 1983.

Dr. Holcombe noted changes in the Code of Federal Regulations go into effect Jan. 12. "These changes in the Texas program conform to that code," he said.

After July 1, 1983 female breeding cattle four months of age or older, with some exceptions, must be vaccinated before entering Texas. The exceptions are: cattle from a certified free herd, cattle being shown in fairs or exhibitions, cattle from commercial herds, cattle designated to go to a quarantined feedlot or slaughter, and cattle born prior to Jan. 1, 1983 moving from one state to another within the state.

Female cattle four months of age or older born after Jan. 1, 1983 must be vaccinated when moving from one state to another in Texas. However, female cattle born prior to Jan. 1, 1983 moving from one state to another in the state need not be vaccinated.

Cattle born after Jan. 1, 1983 changing ownership within the C area must have two negative tests at least 60 days apart unless they have been officially vaccinated.

Texas Angus Assn. Meeting January 29

The Texas Angus Association will hold their Annual Membership Meeting at 7 p.m. Saturday, January 29, 1983, in conjunction with the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth. Members will gather at the Hyatt-Regency to elect officers and discuss general business. Angus enthusiasts are cordially invited to attend.

The Annual Banquet will begin with hospitality hour at 8 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. Sunday, January 30, also at the Hyatt-Regency. Entertainment by speaker/functor, Cotton Ivy. Also included in the weekend of Angus activities will be the Junior Angus Banquet, which will be held Friday, January 28, at the Colonial Jettions on Rogers Road, Fort Worth. This will include their election of officers and special entertainment. The Junior Showmanship Contest and Heifer Show will be Saturday, January 29, at the stock show grounds.

The Texas Angus Association Fat Stock Show and Sale will be held Saturday, January 29, starting at 1 p.m. in Barn 3 at the stock show grounds. Sale 8:30 p.m.

Contact Gwen White at the Texas Angus office for reservations to the banquet, 817/681-2641.

Junior Entries Increase 20% at Fort Worth Show

A 20 percent increase in the junior division has been reported for the 87th annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, scheduled for its 12-day run Jan. 28 through Feb. 6 at the Will Rogers Complex in Fort Worth. W. R. Watt Jr., show president-manager, noted the largest increase is in the junior barrow show where entries gained 623 head to total 1,678. He said junior lamb entries jumped 213 to 1,582 head.

He said overall in the cattle, sheep and swine divisions entries total 9,793 head. Exhibitors of poultry, pigeons and rabbits have until Jan. 16 to enter, but Watt estimated that this group will have around 4,200 head.

Entries in the horse division this year are about 2,000 head, with some entries still being processed. Overall, the Stock Show entry is estimated at 18,000 head, about average with the past several years.

Entries are also being taken for the annual Stock Show All-Western Parade, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. Friday, Jan. 28, in downtown. The parade, unique in that no motorized vehicles are allowed in the line-up, is open to riding clubs, bands, marching units and horse-drawn vehicles. There is no entry fee for the parade. Applications are available at the Stock Show office.

Jerry Clever, Grand Ole Opry star and nine-times Country Comie of the year, will be special entertainer at each of the 22-pedee performances. He tells humorous stories that "happened or almost happened" that appeal to the entire family.

Rodeo tickets are on sale daily, including Sunday, at the box office in the lobby of Will Rogers Coliseum. Tickets for all nights and weekends are $5 each, and $4 for weekdays matinees. Mail orders should include $1 extra per order for return postage and handling. Mail to Stock Show office, P. O. Box 120, Fort Worth, TX 76101.

For more information, call 817/681-2641.
